The NTID Learning Consortium includes the NTID Learning Center (NLC) and the Self-Instruction Lab (SIL). Consortium goals center on supporting: (1) the academic success of RIT/NTID students, and (2) sign language and spoken language skill development for RIT community members. The Consortium provides or supports the following:

- Tutoring in a variety of curricular areas
- "Smart" classroom, computer, and multimedia-based learning technologies
- A general computer area, including wireless technology
- Signed and spoken language communication skill development
- Video resource and production facilities
- Individual/group study areas and small classrooms
- Educational workshops addressing skills, knowledge, and attitudes important for success in college and beyond

The Speech and Language Department is comprised of faculty who utilize a diverse array of perspectives, knowledge, and expertise in order to enhance students' overall communication and language competence, including their spoken English usage. Our instructional endeavors are collaborative and incorporate current knowledge and best practices in assessment, teaching/learning processes, and use of technology. These endeavors promote student attainment of communication success in educational, social and work situations.
